OBJECTIVES

The Masters Coursework Thesis Project is an individual project in which each student works under the guidance of a nominated member of the academic staff (supervisor). A supervisor may also be nominated depending on the set up of the project (e.g. an employer could be supervisor in an external thesis project). The work may involve laboratory experiments, field or industry based investigations, design applications or theoretical research.

The Masters Coursework Thesis aims to provide students with the opportunity to:

- Undertake and execute an academic research project;
- Produce a self-contained research thesis, which may be understood and used by others with technical background knowledge in the same discipline area as the thesis topic, and may potent

- Present the research in a seminar.

WHO IS REQUIRED TO COMPLETE A THESIS?

Program 8621: All students in program 8621 must complete the thesis project in their final year of study.

Program 8338 Students who have not completed a recognised Thesis in their undergraduate studies or further postgraduate studies are required to complete a Thesis in their Masters Coursework program. If you are unsure if you have completed one, or if the school is not aware that you have completed one, please contact the Student Centre so an assessment can be made.

WHAT IS A MASTERS COURSEWORK THESIS?

That depends quite a bit on your field of study. However, they all have at least two things in common:

- They are based on students' original research.
- They take the form of a written report, which presents findings of that research.

WHY WRITE A MASTERS COURSEWORK THESIS?

- Satisfy your intellectual curiosity

This is the most compelling reason to write a research thesis. You have studied courses during your degree that perhaps really piqued your interest. Now's your chance to follow your passions, explore further, and contribute some original ideas and research in your field.

- Develop transferable research skills

Whether you choose to pursue further research (e.g. complete a PhD) or not, the process of developing and crafting a feasible research project will polish skills that will serve you well in almost any future job. After most jobs require some form of problem solving and oral and written communication. Writing a thesis requires that you:

- ask smart questions
- acquire the investigative instincts needed to find answers
