

Soma, olivine and fayalite in the Earth's mantle

Abigail C. Allwood<sup>1,2</sup>, Malcolm R. Walter<sup>1,2</sup>, Balz S. Kamber<sup>3</sup>, Craig P. Marshall<sup>1,4</sup> & Ian W. Burch<sup>2</sup>

The 3,430-Myr-old Sudders Meteorite (SPC) (Pb/Pa = 0.99, A = 0.99) is a chondritic meteorite that has been identified as a Sudders meteorite. The Sudders meteorite is a chondritic meteorite that has been identified as a Sudders meteorite. The Sudders meteorite is a chondritic meteorite that has been identified as a Sudders meteorite.

