

Other formats:

1995), salt evaporation lagoons and ancient halite (McGenity et al. 2000; Mormile et al. 2003; Stan-Lotter et al. 2002). These environments are characterized by high ionic concentrations, and even halophiles isolated from seawater (Rodríguez-Valera et al. 1979)